

14. (New) A multi-purpose information processing apparatus according to claim 8, wherein

B' said first and second bodies are overlapped so that said information input section and said information display section each face outward.

---